

Where will my advertisements and promotional announcements appear?

Advertisements appear in 2 areas (a 3rd is being added) within local Borrow Freely communities. The yellow circle below shows an example “graphic” on the home page of a local community. This space is shared with ads swapping in and out. The yellow rectangle highlights an example “headliner” message. Messages here support HTML and appear on every page, except the community home page which is reserved for the community’s welcome message. The green rectangle represents the 3rd area in which advertisements and promotional announcements will appear in the future. This space is already reserved on numerous pages throughout the site.

Businesses participating in the Site Sponsor program enjoy the exclusive privilege of the banner ad – encircled here with purple. In addition, Site Sponsors are allowed to claim a service or item category as exclusively theirs, thereby locking in a competitive advantage.

NEWS & EVENTS - RIVERFRONT OF MOUNT HOLLY

Tucson's Best Comes to Mt. Holly
In Tucson, AZ, Computer Doc' N Design is a primary contractor for Best Buy's "Geek Squad". But when Computer Doc's founder moved to Mt. Holly (due to her husband's employment transfer) we in Riverfront gained a superb computer resource - and a great new neighbor and friend. Tia, her husband Matthew, and their family live in the townhomes. Visit <http://computerdocdesign.com>.

New Features Live
Borrow Freely released new features today, along with several site improvements. Residents can now see items they have borrowed, image handling is cleaning on the MyItems page and search results are a much faster when a large number of items are found.

November Success Stories
11/12/2008
How's this for borrowing freely? Last month one user gave another user a washing machine; another family sponsored a homeless family by allowing them to 'borrow' (live in) their RV. Now, that's the Spirit! May God bless each of you.
